Definitions

Full time employee (clause 10.2)

A full time employee is one who is engaged to work 38 hours per week or an average of 38 hours per week in a fortnight or four week period.

Part-time employee (clause 10.3)

A part time employee is an employee who is engaged to work less than the full-time hours of an average of 38 hours per week and who has reasonably predictable hours of work.

Casual employee (clause 10.4)

A casual employee is an employee engaged as such on an hourly basis, other than as a part-time, full time or fixed term employee to work up to and including 38 ordinary hours per week. The minimum engagement period of a casual employee is three hours.

Allowances

Travel allowance (clause 18.13)

An employee who is authorised by the employer to use his/her own motor vehicle in the course of his/her duties shall be paid an allowance $0.78 per kilometre.

Clothing allowance (clause 18.3)

If an employer requires an employee to wear a uniform, the employer must provide the uniform or reimburse the employee for the cost of the uniform.

Instead of the provision of a uniform, the employer may, by agreement with the employee pay the employee an allowance of $6.24 per week or $1.23 per shift whichever is the lesser amount.

Laundering allowance (clause 18.3)

If the employee is required to launder the uniform, then the employee will be paid an allowance of $1.49 per week ($0.32 per shift) whichever is the lesser amount (clause 18.3).

Support Services employee—level 9

Work at this level is usually performed in relation to established priorities, task methodology and work practices to achieve results in line with organisational goals. The work may include preparing papers and reports, drafting complex correspondence for senior employees, undertaking activities of a specialist or detailed nature, assisting in the preparation of procedural guidelines, providing, interpreting and analysing information for clients or other interested parties, exercising specific process responsibilities, and overseeing and co-ordinating the work of subordinate staff. Work at this level includes supervision of a work group, small work area or office within the total organisational structure and co-ordination of a range of organisation functions.

Work is performed under general direction as to work priorities and may be of a technical or professional, project, procedural or processing nature, or a combination of these.

Direction exercised over work performed at this level may be less direct than at lower levels and is usually related to task methodologies and work practices. Employees at this level are expected to set priorities and to monitor work flow in the area of responsibility.

The work at this level requires the application of knowledge usually gained through previous experience in the discipline or from post-secondary or tertiary study. The work may require the co-ordination of a range of organisation functions and the exercising of judgment and/or delegated authority in areas where precedents or procedures are not clearly defined. Independent action may be exercised at this level, e.g. developing procedures, management strategies and guidelines.

Indicative typical duties and skills at this level may include:

- supervising staff, setting priorities, monitoring work flow, and the development of strategies or work practices;
- having responsibility for the development of appropriate training programs related to group development;
- applying equal employment opportunity and industrial relations principles;
- providing advice in relation to personal and career development related to work requirements;
- liaising or communicating with clients or other interested groups;
- general knowledge of the organisation's operations, combined with specialist knowledge of major activities within the work area; or
- being able to investigate interpret or evaluate information where legislation, regulations, instructions or procedural guidelines do not give adequate or specific answers.
